

Anil Patel

Anil Patel's eldest son started at St. Paul's School in kindergarten and graduated from SPS in 2020, and his two younger sons are currently in fourth and seventh grades. Upon finishing his medical residency and fellowship twenty years ago at Long Island Jewish Medical Center in New York, Dr. Patel and his wife relocated to Visalia. As a local physician, he owns a private practice of internal medicine and geriatrics. He also is the current president of the Tulare and Kings County Medical Society, and president of Key Medical Group. His family's experience at St. Paul's School has been nothing but positive. They appreciate the challenging academics and small school family environment, and they feel having their boys attend SPS is one of the best decisions they could have made for their children's future. Dr. Patel chooses to serve as a trustee so he may support the administration and teachers in continuing the school's tradition of excellence and of putting kids on the path of great and successful futures.
