

Brandon Ford

Brandon Ford is a St. Paul's School parent who has four children who all attended SPS at one time or another. His older daughter now attends Azusa Pacific where she also plays water polo, his older son attends Redwood High School, and his two younger children are current SPS students. Brandon is a general contractor and has owned his business since 2007. Prior to his current work, he served in the Army's Escort to the President, then was a middle and high school teacher for eight years in Visalia. Brandon's work has led him to graciously contribute his professional expertise to various construction projects at St. Paul's School through the years, but appreciates his involvement as one of our trustees because of his faith in our mission and he believes a Christian-based education is more important now than ever.
